Four Fill '40 Senior Order Rank

Shine, Smith, McKeithen, Lott Make Honor Society; Installed Soon

Sarah Shine, Reba Smith, Sederis Lott, and Mildred McKeithen were announced in assembly Monday as the four outstanding seniors selected to complete the 1939-'40 Senior Order. Formal initiation will be held after Christmas.

Sarah Shine, Latta, is business manager of "The Johnsonian", member of the Senate, Phi Kappa, and the Elementary Education club.

Reba Smith, Orangeburg, is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, vice president of the senior class, member of the College Music club, College Glee club, A Cappella choir, the Senate, and Deutsche Gesellschaft. She was treasurer in 1938 and secretary in 1939 of Masquers.

Sederis Lott, Columbia, is secretary of the Senate, and advertising manager of "The Johnsonian", and president of Alpha Psi Zeta.

Mildred McKeithen, Florence, was president of the State and local Presbyterian association last year, secretary of her freshman class, vice-president of the Glee club, and secretary of the Y her junior year. She is vice president of the Y. She is a member of the Music club, and is a member of the Elementary Education club, and the Senate.

Members of Senior Order are selected by unanimous vote of the Order. Members elected by last year's Senior Order are Harriet Culler, Edith Gentry, Harriet Lawton, Mabel McAlley, Christine Riley, Elizabeth Rogers, Sarah Rosenbloom, and Kate Whisenand.

Honorary members are President Shelton Phelps, Dean Mowat Fraser, and Dr. James P. Kinard, president-emeritus, and Dean Kate Glenn Hardin.

Rathbone Stresses Need of Ideas In Assembly Address

Dr. Josephine L. Rathbone, internationally known authority on therapeutics, emphasized the necessity of physical education at college in her assembly address Monday. Listing the requirements of a beautiful woman she said, "Health and vitality, first. But a woman to be beautiful must not only have a beautiful face, poise and courage—she must also have ideas."

To those desirous of possessing greater poise, Dr. Rathbone recommended a faith in something bigger than oneself, and there is no greater faith in the whole world today than the personality of Christ.

She advised students to fill their minds while at college with all the ideas they can get, and to wait until they get a little older before passing judgment on the ideas.

Dr. Rathbone commented on the size of the new auditorium and said that it is the "largest I have ever had the pleasure to speak in."

Literature Leads In Parallel Study

According to a recent survey in the library, Winthrop students have read 12 reference books per capita, and four books of fiction during the months of September, October, and November.

The comparative percentage of reading, according to departmental subjects is as follows: Psychology and philosophy, 5%; education and social science, 17%; science, 5%; business administration and home economics, 7%; art, 8%; literature, 42%; and history, 16%.

TO ENGLISH MAJORS

All English majors on the high school level who are planning to do practice teaching, are requested to consult Dr. Wheeler immediately.

Y Leaders Talk On Radio Program; A Cappella Sings

An explanation of the Y and its work on the campus was given by Y leaders on the weekly radio broadcast Thursday afternoon in the new auditorium. Also taking part on the program was the A Cappella choir, directed by Miss Constance Wardle.

Mabel McAlley, Y president, spoke on the purpose and activities of the Y, and Elizabeth Hopper, Frances Ward, and Caroline Blanton explained several of the departments of the Y. Mabel also gave recognition to the valuable work done by church secretaries who give their time to Winthrop students.

Selections sung by the A Cappella choir were two numbers from Russian Liturgical music of three German chorales harmonized by Bach and on English Madrigal, "Silver Swan".

The String Ensemble also furnished music for the broadcast.

Dorian Club Gives Review of English Christmas Music

A program of Christmas music of England was presented at a meeting of the Dorian Music club Tuesday afternoon in the music conservatory.

Taking part on the program were Frances Laney, who gave "Current Events"; Nelle Wollings, who spoke on "Christmas Music in England"; Carolyn Guess, who sang "A Star Was His Candle"; and a sextette from the Sophomore Glee club, who sang three numbers, "One Wint'ry Night", "Joseph and the Shepherds", and "Christmas Day is Here".

Refreshments were served during a social hour by Frances Nickle, chairman of the social committee, Mary Esther Gaudin, Nellie Findley, Mary Light, Edith Howard, and Margaret Sansbury.

Fraser in Columbia

Miss Mary E. Fraser, home economist in home economics research, is attending a committee meeting in Columbia today to discuss subjects for club study throughout the State.

Winthrop Direct Clash Team Named Champs of 'Dixie'

The Winthrop direct clash team composed of Mary Darby, Edith Bedenbaugh, Pauline Laye, and Cloy Lawrimore defeated eight visiting teams to become champions of direct clash at the Dixie tournament held on the campus last week-end. The team may be called national champs since this is the first time direct clash debates have been tried, according to Dr. Warren G. Keith, head of the history department.

Other final results of the tournament were as follows: best debaters: men—first, Bob Goldberg, Wake Forest; second, Fred Brutsch, Dartmouth; third, Ralph Brunet, Wake Forest. Women—first, Jane Underwood, University of Alabama; second, Virginia Montgomery, University of Alabama; third, Helen Wise, Virginia Intermont.

Problem solvers: men—first, B. F. McWhall, Auburn; second, Bill Windes, Wake Forest; third, Harold Sutton, Auburn. Women—first, Mavis Wilson, Catawba; second, Frances Dilla, Carson-Newman; third, Doris Thompson, Mars Hill; impromptu: Ralph Brunet, Wake Forest, and Shirley Kilgore, Virginia Intermont; poetry reading: Aida Gregory, Lenoir-Rhyne.

Other Winners

Oratory: Earl Hunt, Eastern Tennessee, and Georgia Bayliss, Virginia Intermont; extempore: Gorman Jones, University of Alabama, and champion, Aida Gregory, Lenoir-Rhyne; after dinner: Weston Hatfield, Wake Forest, and Rheba June Long, Virginia Intermont.

Cloy Lawrimore was named grand president of the Dixie tournament for next year, Dr. Keith announced at the buffet supper Thursday. He also announced that Mildred Lawrimore will be temporary president of the National Pi Kappa Delta convention in Knoxville, Tenn., next spring. Cloy Lawrimore and Pauline Laye were bid to Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, and were given sweaters as rewards. They will act as Winthrop delegates to the South Atlantic Forensic tournament next spring.

About 65 participated in the Dixie wedding at which the union of Sallie Lathrop, senior, who was chosen as bride, and Jack Palamontain of Dartmouth, symbolized the joining of forensic relations between Winthrop and visitors from other schools.

Student Group Discusses Campus Social Progress

Representatives of Student Government, the Y, and the Athletic association discussed campus social and entertainment progress at a meeting Thursday in Main building parlor.

The main idea discussed, according to Harriet Culler, president of Student Government, was an effort to have a joint body representing the three organizations act as a clearing house for campus social plans.

A committee composed of Sylvia Nees, chairman, Harriet Law Des Champs, Grace Thrall, Mabel McAlley, and Miss Mary Frances Ivey, teacher-hostess of Breazeale hall who will act as faculty advisor, was appointed to compile a questionnaire of recreational activities in which Winthrop students participate.

Higgins Gives Talk At Volunteer Meet

"Christmas in Other Lands" was discussed by Annie Sarah Higgins at a meeting of Student Volunteers, religious organization, Sunday in Johnson hall.

Members of Student Volunteers who will deliver the Christmas basket to a needy Rock Hill family are asked to meet in 449 Bancroft tomorrow afternoon.

The program of the next meeting will be on hymns sung in other countries.

Alabama Tech's Tiger eleven will play only one home game this season.

Forensic Groups Bid Thirty-Four

Eight bids to Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, and 26 bids to Strawberry Leaf, national forensic society, were issued Friday night preceding the Dixie wedding.

Receiving bids to Pi Kappa Delta were Margaret Hall, Pauline Morrillo, Marjorie Rowe, Elmina Bedenbaugh, Sara Shirley, Frances Gardner, Cloy Lawrimore, and Pauline Laye.

Bid into Strawberry Leaf were Frances Reynolds, Helen Hanna, Eleanor Rainwater, Caroline Sands, Jean McEachern, Janie Ward, Mary Hayes Calhoun, Elizabeth Pitts, Wilma McAbee, Elizabeth Rawls, Annajane Gray, Margaret Dukes, Alice Martin, Margaret Rickman, Sarah Patterson, Rachel Muckenhaus, Dorothy Mobley, Jacqueline Inabnet, Frances Jenkins, Caroline Johnston, Doris Darby, Mary Keaton, Mary Folk, Margaret Jameson, Jeddie Mae Osborne, and Dorothy Edwards.

Basis for membership into Pi Kappa Delta is excellence in speech. Members to Strawberry Leaf are bid according to their assistance in management of the journeys or participation in the social activities of the Debater's league organizations.

Folk Dance Frolic Shows Foreign Land Christmas Customs

A glimpse of Christmas customs in some of the folk countries was given in the folk festival presented last night in Main auditorium by students of folk dancing. The Sophomore and College Glee clubs under the direction of Dr. Ernst Kanitz, furnished music for the festival.

Appearing in costume, the dancers exhibited the different Christmas customs of Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Germany, France, Sweden, and England. Eleanor Russell, the Spirit of Christmas, was the narrator.

Children's parts were taken by members of the fourth grade of Training School. Harriet Wannamaker, chairman of the Folk Dance club, was in charge of the festival.

Assisting as chairmen of the various countries were Margaret Katlin, Czechoslovakia; Helen Edens, Jugoslavia; Doris Gruber, Germany; Mildred Moscow, France; Lavinia Britt, Sweden; and Sadie Battle, England.

Loyd Haberly, Harvard university poet, prints and binds the volumes of his own poetry.

Annual Yule Play Set For Sunday

Y. Music Department To Present "Through Mary's Window"

"Through Mary's Window", a pageant dramatizing the cantata, will be presented jointly by the Y and the music department at 7 o'clock Sunday night in the new auditorium. Appearing in the role of Mary will be Helen Wallace Mims. Christine Riley will take the part of an angel.

A silver offering for Junia Children, Y orphan, will be taken up before the pageant.

The pageant, written by Gladys Bagg-Tabor and Frank A. Taylor of Randolph-Macon college, is directed by Caroline Marion, chairman of the Y Special Meetings committee. Miss Constance Wardle, instructor in voice, is director of choruses. Directors of the solos are Dr. Walter B. Roberts, Lloyd Bender, and Miss Wardle.

Other characters in the play are as follows: water carrier, Eleanor Higgins; first shepherd, Anne McMichael; second shepherd, Helen Hutto; third shepherd, Jane Kennedy; Joseph, Maudine Ward; first king, Carolyn Guess; second king, Edna Holmes; third king, Jane Kennedy; the caravan and angel choirs, members of the A Cappella choir.

The following are chairmen of committees helping with the play: costumes, Johnnie Wilkerson; lights, Ann Clarkson; make-up, Virginia Stevenson; properties, Georgene Terry, and stage, Reba Smith.

Student Committee To Make Survey Of "Play" Needs

A joint committee of the Y, Student Government, and Athletic association wants to know how Winthrop girls play with what facilities they want to play.

To gather this information a survey, sponsored by the three groups, will be conducted soon. Students will be invited to participate by telling how they now spend their leisure time.

The statistics will be compiled by a student committee, representative of the three organizations, and will be used by them and the administration in efforts to further recreational advantages.

Faculty Get Manuals

One hundred fifty copies of "Columbia's American School of the Air", a teacher's manual and classroom guide, sent to President Shelton Phelps by William Winters, news commentator, have been distributed among the faculty.

Winthrop's 'Largest All Girls' Band' Presents Annual Fall Concert Tonight

Sixty-five members of the Winthrop college band will appear in a concert tonight at 8 o'clock in the new auditorium, according to Mark Biddle, director.

Features of the concert will be a sousaphone solo by Theo Sowell, a special number, "A Blind Man's Movie", by the band, and a surprise twirling feature.

Also on the program will be "Men of Ohio", a march by Fillmore; "Jolly Robbers", overture by F. von Suppe; "In a Monastery Garden" by Ketelbey; "Gold and Silver Walts" by Lehár; "Under the Double Eagle", march by Wagner; "Victor Herbert Favorites" by Herbert; "El Capitan", march by Sousa; and "The National Anthem".

There will be no charge for the concert. The public is invited.

Glee Clubs Have Joint Concert

Kanitz, Wardle, Peter to Lead Clubs in Christmas Music Tuesday Night

Appearing in a joint concert Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the new auditorium will be the Freshman Glee club, Sophomore Glee club, the A Cappella choir, and the Winthrop College Glee club.

Directing the program, which features Christmas music, are F. Darrell Peter, Ernst Kanitz, and Miss Constance Wardle. No admission will be charged. A schedule of the performance is as follows:

The Freshman Glee club, directed by Mr. Peter, and accompanied by Jane Kennedy, will sing "From Heaven Above to Earth I Come" by J. S. Bach; "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," an English traditional; "Bring a Torch, Jeannette, Isabelle," a French traditional; and "Dancing," a Slovak melody.

The Sophomore Glee club, led by Dr. Kanitz and accompanied by Elizabeth Weathers, will present "The Coventry Carol," an English traditional; "Rejoice, Ye Christian Men" by Michael Praetorius; "The Virgin by the Mangler" by Cesar Franck; "Christmas Hymn" by Max Spicker; and "Gloria in Excelsis" by W. A. Mozart.

The A Cappella choir, under the direction of Miss Wardle, will sing three Bach German chorals.

Dr. Kanitz will direct the College Glee club, accompanied by Vivian Major in "A Babe So Tender," an English carol; "All My Heart This Night Rejoices" by J. S. Bach; "The Angels and the Shepherds," a Hungarian carol by Zoltan Kodaly; "Carol of the Russian Children" by Trebaine; and "Praise Our God" by J. S. Bach.

Helen Wallace Mims, as Mary, and Christine Riley, an angel, will play the leading roles in "Through Mary's Window," annual yule production of the Y and the music department, Sunday night.

College Musicians Give Program for Town Club

The Winthrop Sextette, Jack Watson, baritone, and Katherine Hughes, violinist, presented a musical program to the Amelia Pride club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter B. Roberts on Oakland avenue. Amelia Farrior talked on "Christmas Customs in Many Lands" in another feature of the program.

Moser Talks on Budgets For Social Work Class

Miss Ada Moser, home economist, spoke to students in the social case work class on "The Value of Budgets and Their Place in Social Work Agencies" Friday.

Twenty-Two Visit Nursery Clinic Here

Twenty-two teachers from throughout the State attended the annual W. P. A. nursery school conference held on the campus last week. Winthrop nursery school served as a laboratory for the visiting observers.

Afternoon conferences were held during the week and mimeographed copies of committee reports were given to each teacher.

Consultants for the conference were Miss Stella Bradford, Dr. Vero McNair, Miss Sarah Cragwall, Miss Martha Thomas, Miss Miriam Lawrence, State supervisor of W. P. A. nursery schools, Miss Evelyn Rhodes, and Mrs. Naomi Moore, assistant supervisor of W. P. A. nurseries.

Represented at the conference were Rock Hill, Columbia, Camden, Lancaster, Chester, Gaffney, and Anderson.

Hardin, Blakeney Report At Alpha Psi Zeta Meet

Julia Hardin and Grace Blakeney, who visited the State Training school in Clinton last week, reported on their trip for members of Alpha Psi Zeta, psychology club, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in North parlor.

Journalism Class Initiates Series of Press Conferences

A Journalism class became reporters this morning and bombarded Dean Mowat Fraser with questions in the first of a series of such conferences to be held with various members of the administration and with student leaders. The class in Reporting I, instructed by R. A. Furr, and Dean Fraser's class in democracy in education attended the conference.

Designed to give class members experience in the press conference method of getting news, the reporting class will invite at least one person for the hour conference each week during the remainder of the first semester and all through the second semester. Plans are being made to invite off-campus people later in the spring. All information gathered is strictly "off the record," although Johnsonian reporters may ask for private interviews with the person giving such information.

Only class members will be permitted to attend the conferences.

Dacus Orders Library Books In Tomorrow

All library books must be returned by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Miss Ida J. Dacus, librarian, has announced. A fine of ten cents per day will be charged for each volume not returned by this time.

The library will remain open until the close of school so that students may use books and magazines.

Naudains in Columbia

Dr. and Mrs. Glenn G. Naudain attended a meeting of the South Carolina Section of the American Medical Society Saturday at the University of South Carolina.

The program included a speech on "Chemical Warfare" by Dr. J. E. Mills of Hartsville, S. C.

CASUALLY Seniors Get Teaching Schedules

● We asked a very little girl if she knew what Christmas meant. She nodded emphatically. "Course, Santa Claus' birthday." We all laughed. But now the joke's turned a little bit sour.

E. ROSS

Now we're not so sure of the humor of the childish mistake. For as Christmas draws nearer we hear all the chatter about presents, cards, decorations, money. "I can't decide on what to give."

Where's the money? Mary—I'll just have to write home for more money—I'm sending a hundred cards—I wonder if Bill's going to give me a present. I guess I'd better get him one just in case—Are you going to any dances?—Are you having any new clothes?—Presents in silver and blue cellophane. Decorators trying to outdo each other. Gay holiday chatter and gay holiday clothes. But is it Christmas? Are we losing the peace underneath a load of presents? Are we snubbing the spirit and will to "good times"? Is a sophisticated silver cellophane veneer beginning to take the place of Christmas?

● We read a lot today about the shocking frankness of modern youth. We grin at such because we know that Winthrop's share of youth is about as modern and out-spoken as good Queen Victoria in her prunier moments. Last Saturday night at the performance of "Boy Meets Girl" we were shocked.

Not at the play, but at the audience. Some girls cringed, others snickered, others merely gazed. We really expected a few to swoon just to add the proper late 80's touch. Monday we enjoyed Miss Rathbone's talk in chapel. We were consequently a little surprised to hear a group of girls denounce her fiercely. "Oh, I was so embarrassed—the things she said—I didn't dare look around—and—oh—no!" They entirely missed the point of Miss Rathbone's talk. They let their blushing modesty keep them from recognizing the good points of the talk. Modesty's fine—but a chronic blush isn't becoming to all.

● We're going to do more than wish you all a merry Christmas and a very happy holiday. We're going to give you a present. A little piece of advice all wrapped up and tied with bright red ribbon. It's this: don't bother to take work home with you for Christmas. Lots of you are planning to work on papers or catch up on back paper. Well, don't do it. Come back after Christmas and really put out some brain power. But don't mix your work with your Christmas play. Go home, don't read anything unless you really want to hang your uniform in the closet, have fun. Off with the blue, and on with the red, white, and any old color. In other words have a very merry Christmas.

We can't get too many anonymous contributions like the following, but we still wish the writer had signed her name. It's something to be proud of, this clever "What's in a Winthrop Name?":

RUTH waked early on MUNDY

morning. MARY LULA, the COOK, had told EDNA not to let the FISHBOURNE, since VIRGINIA had had such a horrid experience with the SCALES. Soon AGNES announced that it was DUNN. HARRIET didn't like the CULLER, but ETHEL made clear to everyone that it was BROWN enough. SADIE reproved them by saying that there was nothing to BATTLE about. Then BYRDIE chimed in that people crossed their BRIDGES before they got to them, and MARGARET added they had nothing to worry about because they had just had a most delightful meal at the home of MARY HALL and she had MOORE there to burnt fish.

Pre-Nuptial Parties For Miss Mildred Phelps High-light Holiday Festivities Among Faculty

Miss Mildred Phelps, whose approaching marriage is of wide social interest, has been extensively entertained. Miss Phelps will be married to Ewing Lawrence Jr., Sunday, the twenty-fourth of December. Among the teas and parties which have been given for Miss Phelps by faculty and officers of the College are the following: Last Saturday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth Anderson and her mother, Mrs. W. A. Andrews, gave a tea for Miss Phelps and Mrs. Charles L. Ohey Jr., a recent bride of Rock Hill. The tea was given at the home of Mrs. J. B. Johnson on East Main street.

The tea table was decorated with a Della Robbia wreath of fruit and ribbon. The reception hall and living room were decorated with candies and mixed flowers. The guests were served cheese straws, nararons, date confections, and coffee.

Mrs. W. B. Roberts gave a morning party in her honor Wednesday. The guests marked linen for Miss Phelps. Later in the morning a Christmas luncheon was served.

Poinsettias and narcissi were used for decoration. The guests were given little pink thimbles as souvenirs. Assisting Mrs. Roberts were Mrs. Jack Watson, and Mrs. Mark Biddle.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. W. H. Jarrell and Miss Gladys Smith entertained Miss Phelps at a seated tea. Sandwiches, cookies, salted nuts, candies, and tea were served from the tea table which was placed in front of an open fire in the living room. Dean Kate Glens Hardin will give a dinner party for Miss Phelps this evening at 8 o'clock.

Girls In Roddey

Have Christmas Tea

Miss Melvin Ellis and Mrs. Bertha Willis entertained the girls of Roddey at a tea Thursday afternoon. The parlors were decorated with wreaths, poinsettias, and evergreens. In the main parlor stood a bright Christmas tree trimmed with lights, icicles, and snow. The silver service reflected the light of the red candles on the tea table.

During the tea, carols were sung by the following girls dressed in old English costumes: Mary Elizabeth Shealy, Elizabeth Fulmer, Jonette Dukes, Elizabeth Ann Wheeler, Nancy Jones, Wilson Hammond, Louise Haddad, and Jo Nellie Nichols.

Harriet Quattlebaum, and Marjorie Creed were the hostesses. Hot punch, cakes, and mints were served by Elizabeth Ann Weeden, Caroline Williams, Florence Staubs, Elizabeth Stanton, Mary Heath Owens, and Peggy Alexander. Jean Winter was in charge of the serving committee.

St. Mary's university (Texas) owns a bus for athletic trips that holds 53 passengers.

Sophs Give Christmas Party To Needy Children

The sophomore class has found the best way of expressing their Christmas spirit yet. Instead of spending a great amount to decorate the library of Johnson hall, they are giving a Christmas party for five little girls who were recommended by the Salvation Army. Mary Katherine Littlejohn, class president, will be in charge of the party, which will be Monday at 7 o'clock in Johnson hall.

Julian Lake of the Oakland Avenue Presbyterian church will tell the story of "The Old 'Tis Man". Several girls will lead the entire group in Christmas carols.

Carolyn Guess, Dimitra Palahos, Jean Quarles, and Lila Wells are in charge of music. Margaret Martin made the posters, and Frances Hall sent the invitations.

Here and There

Christmas parties given by organizations and clubs are crowding every possible minute of pre-holiday season.

In costumes of foreign lands, Baptist girls will gather in the gym tomorrow night at 7:30 for the annual Christmas party. All Baptist girls are invited to the "Foreign Frolic".

Working under Marjorie Hector and Christine Burton, who headed the planning of the party are Rabe Smith, chairman of program committee; Virginia Steadman, chairman of refreshments committee; Theo Wells, chairman of invitations committee; and Lois Boyd, chairman of decorations committee.

Faculty notes: Mrs. Harriet F. Johnson and Miss Jessie Neely of the home demonstration office are planning a trip to Cuba during the holidays.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Maude Hall gave a small party for ten girls of her children's literature class who have helped her mimeograph a booklet on Poland to which the entire class had contributed. The guests sat around the fire and toasted marshmallows and ate pecans. Supper was served.

Miss Anne Birdwell of Texas arrives today to visit Miss Mildred Phelps.

MISS LAURA ARD TO BE MARRIED DECEMBER 23

Miss Laura Ard who is in charge of the College book store and supply room will be married to R. L. Westmoreland December 23. The ceremony will be performed by the Reverend R. A. MacFarland at his home.

Bridge Party Given By Joint Hostesses In Joynes Hall

Miss Ella Huggins, Miss Dora Harrington, and Miss Annie Felter entertained at a bridge party Saturday evening in Joynes hall. The mantle in the reception hall was decorated with holly, cedar, and red candles in graduated silver candlesticks. The rooms where the bridge tables were placed were decorated with holly and other evergreens.

Miss Iva Bishop, Miss Jessie Cloud, and Frank Harrison assisted in receiving the guests. Miss Elmerbeth Watson, Miss Jean McRae, Miss Mary Anna Ellison, Miss Julia Long, Miss Willene Reeves, and Miss Elizabeth Anderson helped served.

The high score prize for women was won by Miss Ruth Stevens; the high score prize for men was won by Frank Harrison; the low score prize for women by Miss Mildred Phelps; and the low score prize for men by Ed Fewell.

A. A. U. W. HAS ANNUAL CHRISTMAS RECEPTION

The American Association of University Women had its annual Christmas reception last night in Johnson hall. The officers of the association and members of the social committee of which Mrs. Harriet Johnson is head, received the guests.

The program for the evening was planned by Dr. Dennis Martin, chairman of the fine arts committee. Darrell Peter played several numbers, and Jack Watson sang. A college trio under the direction of Emmett Gore played. A modern dance group directed by Miss Alice Hayden gave two dances, one a Christmas number, had been designed especially for the occasion.

Forensic Banquet Fetes Rollings; Prizes Awarded

Testimonials of appreciation to Miss Ruth Rollings, assistant professor of history, and awards of prizes to debaters highlighted the annual Strawberry Leaf banquet Tuesday night in Johnson hall.

Edith Bedenbaugh, grand president of the society, presented Miss Rollings with a gift and presented to Dr. Warren G. Keith, founder and maintainer of Strawberry Leaf, a silver goblet.

Receiving silver goblets as winners of the first national direct clash were Edith Bedenbaugh, Mary Darby, Clio Lawrence and Pauline Laye. Donors of the cups were Charles Cobb, W. J. Roddey, and Archie Joslin, Rock Hill business men.

National speaker certificates for direct clash debaters were presented to the Winthrop teams Dean Mowat Fraser, Dean Kate Glenn Hardin, Miss May Gibson, Mrs. Sadie McBride, Miss Lella Russell, Miss Melvin Ellis, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Twello, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Chappell, and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gore were honor guests at the banquet.

Music was furnished by the String Ensemble, directed by Emmett Gore, during the banquet.

Christmas spirit manifested the Winthrop way? One girl nicely put it, "Don't they sleigh you!"

And you can vary your pockets a Presbyterian way by having them knapsack, patch, kit, kangaroo, or pouch.

And to make this column good and borrowed, from Frank Crownshield, a November "Vogue" author, I'll steal a paragraph. "There must be among the charms of every beautiful woman, three that are white—the skin, the teeth, the hands; three that are red—the mouth, the cheeks, the nails; three long—the body, the ears, the hands; three broad—the bosom, the forehead, the space between the eyebrows; three full—the lips, the arms, the calves; three small—the waist, the hands, the feet; three thin—the fingers, the ankles, the wrists; and, finally, three dark—the eyes, the eyelashes, and the soul—if she chances to have one."

Sob-comical Triangle, 'In Name Only', Show For Saturday Night

Tak's a little dash of sob stuff, a big dash of comedy, and the well-seasoned result is the jaunty Saturday night movie, "In Name Only". It's a mad merry-go-round triangle in which Cary Grant has too much money and too many women.

Blood Carole Lombard and brunette Kay Francis fight it out to the finish over Mr. Grant. Carole is a lively widow who loves him for himself; Kay is the naturally lively wife who loves him for his money. Cary nonchalantly loves not wisely but too well at the wrong time. Sounds solemn, but it's not. It's gay and humorous; and weepy, too, at the right moments. Of course, as the "other woman" Carole has to do some crying and gas into a modern version of the traditional black cloak for the emotional showdown; but it's not tear-jerky, and it's definitely not stuffy. It's the same old wife-in-name-only plot that wowed them back when East Lynne was the latest box office hit.

SHOP EARLY

Just a few days more and Winthrop will be closed for the holidays. Christmas, New Year's and, then back to the College on January 2nd. The shelves of Rock Hill's progressive merchants are full of a large variety of Christmas merchandise. Holiday goods bought early may be bought cheaper because of the large variety and full stocks.

It would be a happy holiday if Winthrop students and all others living within the State should not be unmindful of the fact that South Carolina merchants pay their part of the taxes which enables Winthrop and other state educational institutions to function. Patronize them, and

Where and What to Play

Sports of the Campus

After Classes

By Margaret Bries

Christmas is in the air—and in minds and hearts. Numerous have been the seasonal parties given or planned, and the tinkling little bells on abbees herald everywhere the arrival of Yuletide enthusiasm. Saturday was the big shopping day. Every girl who could muster the time (and money) was rubbing elbows and shoulders with others selecting cards and presents. And, believe it or not, some smarties have already done most of their wrapping.

Enlivening the campus last week was the always-welcome Dixie tourney. Congratulations to the history department for its grand success. Everybody seemed to enjoy it, one so much that she is advocating monthly gatherings. Sounds good to us.

Best achievement of the music department this week was Mr. Gore's orchestra concert. Outstanding number on an impressive program was Mendelssohn's "Concerto in G Minor" by soloists Ann Thomas and Kate Wheeler with the String Ensemble.

Favorable comments concerning the physical education syllabus have been heard on all sides, and we'd like to compliment Helen Moss on the illustrations which added so much to the program.

DANCE AT Nineteen members A. A. U. W. of the modern dance group and classes in modern dance gave a program of dance at a regular meeting of the American Association of University Women last night in Johnson hall, according to Miss Alice Hayden.

The freshmen have organized and begun basketball practice. Exhibiting the same pep and ability they showed for hockey, they're out to give someone some competition, and they mean business. We're to those who stand in their way!

Arrows peppered the targets continually during the archery tournament, and everybody gave everybody else plenty of competition. We recommend a look-see at the prize—hey! it's worth it! Congratulations, winners.

With tennis over for the ball, attention can all be given to basketball. The material indicates an interesting and exciting season.

Language Classes To Sing Around Front Campus Tree

Spanish, German, French, Latin, and Old English carols will be sung by modern and ancient language classes on the last night before Christmas holidays around the front-campus tree.

Sponsored for the last three years by 12 Circulo Castellano, Spanish club, this celebration has become almost a custom for the language groups at Winthrop.

Winthrop Alumna In Play by Frank Guees

Mary Louise Boylston, Winthrop alumnae of 1935, played the leading role in "Black Tails", a play by Frank Guees of Rock Hill, which was presented Saturday night at Chapel Hill, N. C.

Miss Boylston, a member of the University Playmakers theater, appeared as the guest alumna of the Journal last year.

Frosh Give Good Attendance at Basketball Work

Ninety freshmen have been reporting regularly for basketball practice this week, according to Miss Maude Carvey, Basketball club advisor. Upperclassmen practices will start soon after Christmas holidays.

Tentative plans are for organizations as many teams within a class, as the number of players justifies. These teams will participate in an inter-class tournament in which all but one team from each class will be eliminated. Teams surviving this preliminary tournament will play in the regular intra-mural tilt.

Because of lack of instruction at practice only those who have basketball experience are advised to play, but all who attend a sufficient number of practices and meet the necessary academic requirements will play on teams, Miss Carvey said.

Beta Pi Theta Members Receive Certificates

Certificates of membership were presented new members of Beta Pi Theta, national French fraternity, at a joint meeting with Le Cercle Francais Tuesday afternoon in Johnson hall.

After the business meeting Miss Lois G. Black, assistant professor of French, led the group in singing French Christmas carols. Hot chocolate was served by the social committee.

Crawford Speaks at Astronomy Club Meet

Christine Crawford spoke on the Ladd observatory at Providence, R. I., to members of the Astronomy club, campus organization, yesterday afternoon in Johnson hall.

Kathleen Crawford gave a talk on the Christmas star.

Sextette, Bender, Gore Appear at Lancaster

The Winthrop Sextette, Lloyd Bender, and Emmett Gore, members of the music faculty, gave a program of Christmas music before the Literary Review club of Lancaster in Lancaster Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Walter B. Roberts, head of the music department, accompanied the musicians.

Y WILL GIVE CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR SERVANTS

The Hasty Bible Class committee of the Y will give its annual party for the negro workers on the campus this afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock in the recreational room of Johnson hall. Special guests will be President and Mrs. Shelton Phelps and Dean Kate G. Hardin. Slides of scenes of Christmas stories will be shown and carols sung, and apples and candy will be served.

One hundred and twenty-five invitations have been issued.

She Yelled 'Rat! Rat!' But No one Smelled A Rat But Her

It happened at the canteen the other night. She was talking loud and everyone else was talking too, and she couldn't get near the oranges.

At the top of her voice she yelled, "Rat—right over there!" The pajamased, hair covered alkalisers clanked on chairs and tables, and shrieked. Smirking with pride she stepped up to help herself to the oranges. And here's the punch: She leaped down, picked up two, and uncovered—a rat!

Holidays

Christmas holidays begin Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock, and end Tuesday, January 2, at 10 o'clock a.m., according to an announcement by President Shelton Phelps.

Spartanburg Alumnae Hear About Winthrop

Talks about Winthrop were given by Mrs. Ralph Walden and Miss Kate Foster at a recent Spartanburg alumnae meeting at the home of Mrs. B. W. Womack, with Mrs. I. A. Phifer as joint hostess.

Letters from Dr. J. P. Kinard and Mrs. Lella A. Russell, alumnae secretary, were read.

After the business session a Christmas program was given. Tea, sandwiches, and cookies were served.
